

the print publications we have to choose from are for the most part biased and influenced by corporate america. however, the small percentage of "clean" information we receive from this media is valuable. we lose this and i may as well start watching local news again (sarcasm).